

Saudi Arabia

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia does not have a codified personal status law. Family affairs are governed by judicial rulings on a case-by-case basis. Judges apply their interpretations of Islamic law.

Due to the absence of codified legislation, please refer to Shamsaha's legal resources section to find a trained professional in your area.